TASTING NOTES

The Real Review’s Rising Star of the Year New Zealand 2025 Finalist (Top 3)

Atípico is a labour of love and care from 2016’s New Zealand Young Winemaker of the Year and Rock Ferry winemaker Jordan Hogg. It is made of small parcels from exceptional and distinctive vineyards, gently guided by hand, and true to its name, unburdened by convention.

New Release, notes for the 2023 vintage below...

Winery notes (2023 Vintage)

"The wine comes from a small block of Sauvignon Blanc grown in the Omaka Valley, near the end of Brookby Road. A gentle sheltered ridge on the eastern side of the valley slopes to the north and a few degrees west. Clay soils and Marlborough sunlight influence the vines, showcasing the site in a beautiful, evocative and expressive wine.

Handpicked on the 1st of April and fermented as whole clusters in a small open top oak vessel. A gentle pat of the cap each day to keep it fresh and satisfy curiosity. After 9 days the golden must was gently pressed directly to a seasoned French oak puncheon (500L).

The remainder of primary fermentation was complete after a week in the puncheon vessel. It was aged undisturbed on full lees for 15 months élevage. Malolactic fermentation was completed during the first Spring and Summer. It was then racked with a small 30ppm addition of sulphur dioxide. Bottled unfined and unfiltered in September 2024. A naturally occurring sediment is expected.

A complex nose of jasmine, fennel and freshly cut citrus. The wine has a crystalline purity of fruit and is framed with juicy ripe phenolics which give a palate with immense drive, texture and length."

5 Stars & 95/100 Stephen Wong, The Real Review, December 2024 (2023 Vintage)

"Golden colour. Complex sandalwood and cardamom with developing terpene aromas of spice and butterscotch are balanced by tart acidity, green pineapple and creamy coconut flavours on the intensely concentrated, young palate. Bordelais in style with density and coiled power, there is a shaded, savoury fruit profile brooding under the deliberate wood and phenolic structure which is still firm on the long, dry finish, hinting at skin fermentation though the wine is not amber. This will easily age for a few years as it gains more complexity and layers."

91/100 Cameron Douglas MS, December 2024 (2023 Vintage)

"Some golden hues lead to a bouquet and palate of lees and fruit spices then a natural ferment quality of wild flowers and baked goods. Crisp and dry, lots of texture and flavour with citrus then a mix of stone fruits lead to more flavours of baked goods and leesy spice qualities. A wine to explore with food alongside offering best drinking from day of purchase through 2027."
