TASTING NOTES

This exceptional Pouilly-Fuissé is a blend of two parcels from the town of Vergisson. One parcel is north facing, embracing the cooler breezes while the other is a late ripening plot facing east on sandstone soil; the vines are between 35-60 years old. Together they make one of the most mineral Chardonnays in the Bret Brothers portfolio.

Winery notes (2023 Vintage)

"Our Pouilly-Fuissé « Terres de Vergisson » comes from the undoubtedly most mineral village of the Appellation. Oh yes, one more Pouilly-Fuissé on top of the other two we produce in this fine sector. Let yourselves be guided by the mineral tension of the wine, almost a vibrant tension as if it was echoing the rocky circus sheltered by the Roches de Solutré and Vergisson. 2023 is an honest seducer. Fruit, minerality... A great wine."
