TASTING NOTES

Juicy and satisfying, this is a new red import from the warm 'heel' of Italy. Puglia's distinctive local grape Negroamaro brings us an effortless red that is medium-bodied, with nice darkish fruit and subtle savoury undertones. From a sun-soaked climate, this perfectly balanced wine is versatile and fantastic value. Drink now with grilled red and white meats.

During 40 years of wine making and research into the wines of Puglia, Cantina Coppi is closely linked with promotion and enhancement of this southern Italian region. The family concentrates on native vines with special characteristics, a precious heritage of resources to preserve. According to the family philosophy, making a good wine means following an unbridled passion, and every day brings a rediscovered love for their own land.

Best Buy, Alexander Peartree, Wine Enthusiast, October 2020 (2018 Vintage)

"Zesty aromas of crushed thyme, bay leaf and eucalyptus ride over a spiced cranberry and plum core. This is light and easy on the palate, giving juicy red fruit and soft, polished tannins. Integrated acidity is the main driver here, but it plays well with the fruit and spice elements, never seeming out of place."
