TASTING NOTES

A special Chardonnay from old vines just outside the official boundaries of the famous appellation of Pouilly Fuisse. This borderline vineyard lies at desirably high altitudes where they face southeast on mineral-rich soils of Jurassic limestone and flinty siliceous rocks called "chaille". A modest priced for such a well-sourced and expressive wine, the Macon Fuisse is well worth a try.

Skurnik Wines

"La Roche de Vergisson is hard to miss when driving south from the Côte d'Or to the hamlet of Vergisson. The massive rock looms over the small town like a massive ship's prow. On almost all sides are some of the finest Chardonnay vines in France – in Vergisson that means exclusively Pouilly-Fuissé (Mâcon-Vergisson 'La Roche' being the only exception.) This is the epicenter for intense, mineral driven French Chardonnay. -- Lying in the shadow of this grand rock is one of the finest estates in all of Burgundy and unquestionably the master of Vergisson, Domaine Daniel et Julien Barraud. With holdings in the best and oldest vineyards in the region, the wines are a PhD level course in world-class Chardonnay. -- The viticultural history of the Barraud family began in 1905, when Jean-Marie Barraud first purchased parcels in Vergisson, the highest point in the Mâconnais. Since that time, Daniel Barraud, along with his son Julien and wife Martine (the master of the vines), have turned his family's domaine into the benchmark producer of the region and a must-have for all Burgundy lovers. The heights reached by this storied producer mandate that they must now be compared to the best of the Côtes d'Or. This is simply white Burgundy at its finest – and most reasonably priced."

91/100 Neal Martin, Vinous (2022 Vintage)

"The 2022 Mâcon-Fuissé, from vines located at 400m altitude on shale soils over clay, is matured in 60% vat and 40% in 600-liter demi-muids. This is effervescent on the nose with apricot and peach skin, very pure and welldefined, with light meringue hints. The palate is well-balanced and nicely structured. There's a gentle grip in the mouth. Stem ginger intermixes with Clementine and citrus fruit on the finish. Recommended."
