TASTING NOTES

As whiskey ages a part of it is said to evaporate to the Angels - this is known as the Angel Share. In the Caribbean, they believe that Jamaican spirits, known as Duppies, swoop between the distilleries stealing the best of the rum as it ages in barrels, then come together for a massive party called a Mischief. The rum they steal is called the Duppy Share.

drinksbiz Magazine August/September 2024

"A blend of 5-, 8- and 12-year-old 100% column still rums from Barbados. Rich aromas of velvet caramel and tamarind are balanced with light tones of toasted coconut and violet. Flavours of butter fudge, caramel and condensed milk marry with accents of apricot, vanilla and nutmeg."
