TASTING NOTES

Maker notes

"As was the case with original Indian tonic water, East Imperial is now the only tonic water sourcing all the key ingredients from Asia. This is the champagne of tonic waters.

This is a true tonic water, not a soft drink and as such we would recommend pairing it with the more bold herbaceous new western style gins. You'll soon understand why, as the subtle flavours of the gin once masked by other tonics will start to shine through. Because there is only a trace of natural citric acid and less than half the sugar of Schweppes or Fever Tree, bartenders are free to craft their perfect G&T the way they want, adding natural citrus flavours or sweeteners to suit. This really is the authentic representation of what tonic water tasted like at the turn of the century."
