TASTING NOTES

Natalino Crognaletti is a winemakers' winemaker whose family have worked the same land for centuries. His wines are as expressive as himself. All are made with minimal intervention using wild ferments in cement vats and undergoing no fining or filtration. Named after his grandfather, Il Gino is medium bodied with juicy red and fruit, spice and the right amount of tannin to make it absolutely sing with food.

One of the original DOC's in Italy, the wine dates back to pre-Romanic times. Sangiovese is widely thought to be of ancient origin, as the literal translation of its name (blood of Jove) suggests. 10% of the wine sees some used wood to soften the natural searing acidity of Sangiovese and Montepulciano. Farmed biodynamically 'Gino' is the name of Natalino's father, for whom this vineyard is named and dedicated.
