TASTING NOTES

One of the most "cellar worthy wines in the world" according to Antonio Galloni, the beautiful Rancia is developing its reputation in leaps and bounds. From a higher-altitude, 6 ha single vineyard in Southern Chianti Classico, the style is deep, focused and finely structured with dark fruits and savoury undertow. Utterly impressive yet so versatile as both a serious dinner match and cellar wine, Felsina's Rancia is a future classic!

95+/100 Antonio Galloni, Vinous (2021 Vintage)

"The 2021 Chianti Classico Gran Selezione Rancia is the first vintage in which Rancia moves from Riserva to Gran Selezione. More importantly, Felsina appears to be back on track after two years, during which Rancia underperformed because of the inclusion of a parcel that did not work in the blend and contributed a slight vegetal character. The 2021 marries power and finesse in the way only Rancia can. Black cherry, leather, game, spice, licorice, tobacco and grilled herbs are all finely knit in a brooding yet elegant Gran Selezione that delivers the goods. Superb."

95/100 James Suckling (2021 Vintage)

"Cherries, black cherries, lemon peel, and vetiver define the main profile. Blackcurrants, raspberries, and pomegranate take center stage. Medium-full body, with biting tannins and a very persistent finish. Best from 2025."
