TASTING NOTES

A refined Barolo from a boutique producer. Formerly a Classico, this great value label is now sourced only from vineyards in the town of Verduno. The family has been receiving recognition since the mid-Nineteenth Century but still work hard to produce wines of perfect balance and delicacy. Lots of cru fruit goes into this humble Barolo, which has a staggering potential to develop for a wine of this price. It will delight just as well in the nearer term.

94/100 Jeb Dunnuck (2022 Vintage)
"Scheduled to be bottled in January 2026, the 2022 Barolo Del Comune di Verduno pours a bright ruby hue and is highly perfumed with delicate rustic notes alongside Bing cherries, roses, spice, and stony earth. Medium-bodied, it has appealing sweet tannins, balanced acidity, and good clarity throughout. This charming and expressive Barolo should drink well over the coming decade."

93/100 Monica Larner, RobertParker.com, Wine Advocate (2022 Vintage)
"The Fratelli Alessandria 2022 Barolo del Comune di Verduno captures the floral finesse and spice that have become signatures of this village. The bouquet offers violet, peppery exotic flower, redcurrant and dried boysenberry with subtle hints of lavender and rosemary essence. The wine is streamlined and linear in the mouth, delivering a tonic sense of freshness and graceful intensity rather than sheer power. First introduced with the 2017 vintage, the wine captures Verduno's distinctive personality with its floral lift and near-term approachability. "

(2022 Vintage)
"The 2022 Barolo del Comune di Verduno is a potent wine that is still coming together. Then again, it is a barrel sample taken straight from cask. Black cherry, leather, grilled herbs, menthol and tobacco lend an especially somber, virile character. It will be interesting to see where this goes."
