TASTING NOTES

A great Rully showing the racy nature of young vines, pure fruit and elegant spice. There's a reason Ponsot is heads above many of the other producers.

A hint of candied lemon plays on the nose alongside slight hints of chalk. The palate displays a fine texture, zesty, almost grippy, with a lovely depth and exquisite freshness. The finish is bright, vivacious, chalky and lasting.

Domaine Jean-Baptiste Ponsot was created in 1954 by Lucien Ponsot who was farming only a few parcels of vines. The property was expanded under his son Bernard, who extended the vineyards step by step. The founder's grandson, Jean-Baptiste then took over in 2000 at the tender age of 20 years old. Upon arrival, he started to plant untapped pieces of land belonging to the estate. Bit by bit, Jean-Baptiste has invested in high quality equipment and built a new winery in 2005.

Today Jean-Baptiste farms 8.5 hectares all located in the AOP Rully and sustainably farmed with organic practices: no insecticide, no weed-killer, no anti-rot and no chemicals at all. Jean-Baptiste doesn't care to be certified but is as respectful of his land as many certified organic producers.

Jean-Baptiste Ponsot is a master of his craft, producing some of the finest wines in the Cote Chalonnaise. Using only the best grapes and traditional winemaking techniques, he creates wines that are balanced, nuanced, and full of character. From the bright and lively flavors of his Chardonnays to the rich, earthy tones of his Pinot Noirs, each bottle is a true reflection of the region's unique terroir. He doesn't want to grow, sell more wines and make more money; he just wants to enhance the quality of his current wines. This is proven by the fact that today he is the only producer in Rully who doesn't buy grapes. He wants to focus on his 8.5 hectares and pamper them.
