TASTING NOTES

Nerello Mascalese is generally regarded as Sicily's finest red variety, and is responsible for many of its top wines, from Etna in particular. This is a great introduction to the grape - a vibrant, youthful red with bags of cherry fruit (hence the label) in a juicier, less structured style than most Sicilian reds.

Top 10 "Reds from the Outer Rim Tasting" Dish Magazine, June 2026

"Plump and fruity, this nerello mascalese from Sicily opens with lifted aromas of cherry, fruitcake spices, warm earth and an intriguing medicinal whisper. Juicy red fruit bounces across the palate with elegance and soft, easy generosity, while gentle, chewy tannins and bright, zippy acid carry everything gracefully through to a dry, herb-tinged finish. More please!"
