TASTING NOTES

A welcome back for this Southern Italian label, popular with us a few years ago. Negroamaro is an ancient variety associated with the Salento region of Puglia for over 1500 years, Menhir are a relatively new winery producing modern, juicy wines whilst respecting the history of the region. They have also established a restaurant and food centre celebrating the local cuisine - reports are it is excellent if you ever get to visit this region.

The wine is dark, inky coloured with dark spiced fruits - plum especially and hints of dried herb and plenty of weight. Definitely Mediterranean tasting with warm flavours and hints of saline savouriness.
