TASTING NOTES

If Nero d'Avola isn't already on your radar, it's time to change that – native to Sicily it is an incredibly food-friendly wine that pairs phenomenally with pizza in particular.

Sourced from the sun-drenched hills of southwestern Sicily, Mont'Albano's 2024 Nero d'Avola brings the island's most important red grape to life. Founded in 1985 by Mauro Braidot in Friuli Venezia Giulia, Mont'Albano was a pioneer of Italy's organic wine movement. Now, that same passion and purity is bottled in this vibrant Sicilian red.

Pour a glass and you'll find a striking ruby hue with violet highlights, bursting with aromas of wild forest berries, violets, and a whisper of spice. Aged in stainless steel to preserve freshness, the palate is smooth and velvety, finishing with just the right touch of Sicilian warmth and spice.
