TASTING NOTES

New for 2023 is Patrick Sullivan's namesake Chardonnay. Unlike his single vineyard wines (Bullswamp, Woori Yallock etc), this is made from a blend of sites, all of which are located on Victoria's unique limestone coast. All share a common shallow volcanic top layer with complimenting subsoils of limestone and basalt, creating a wine with richness, minerality and nicely balanced acidity too. Released one year prior to the single vineyard wines, this wine is is great drinking and incredible value too.

Winery notes (2023 Vintage)

"The fruit is whole bunch pressed into tank. Once settled, the juice is racked into barrique and tank for primary and malolactic fermentation. Approximately 15% new French oak is used. Aromas of cream custard, white peach, citrus and vanillin. On the palate flavours of brioche, peach, mineral, lime and cream."
