TASTING NOTES

Trophy for Champion London Dry Gin - International Wine & Spirits Competition 2018

Three New Zealand friends launched Rogue Society Distilling Co. in 2014 and its two gin expressions quickly became some of the top sellers in New Zealand, also garnering international awards. A trademarking issue with a US brewery meant Rogue Society had to change its name to enter the European market and in early 2018 its gins were renamed 'Scapegrace', which is an 18th century word for 'rogue', 'free-spirit' and 'libertine'. In August 2018 Spacegrace Gold was awarded Best London Dry Gin at the IWSC.

She's strong, oozing attitude. 13 exotic botanical's, glacial New Zealand waters, and all born of a copper pot still. All concealed beneath a 24 carat disk. It's a sign of a modern 57% gin with more control. Citrus to the fore, smooth as you like. A special batch for a special occasion. The ultimate gin for crafting cocktails. When you think you've tried everything, this one's 'just right'.

drinksbiz Magazine, October 2020

"A juniper-forward style, this gin features a sweetness thanks to three layers of citrus (orange, lemon and tangerine). It won the London Dry Gin Trophy at the IWSC 2018."
