TASTING NOTES

Gold Medal - San Francisco World Spirits Competition 2016

Distillery notes

"Thomson Whisky brings you an update from the barrel. Made from 100% New Zealand grown malted barley, smoked using Manuka wood, and distilled through a hand beaten copper pot still, it's our Manuka Smoke release in its youth. This 'work in progress' bottling offers natural smoke, cinnamon, clove, and Manuka oils."

drinksbiz Magazine

"This New Zealand whisky brand was established by husband and wife team Rachael and Mathew Thomson in 2010. With a new distillery now in operation in Riverhead, north west of central Auckland, they blend whiskies and distil single malt using a hand-beaten copper pot still and New Zealand grown and malted barley. The Thomsons age their whiskies in a range of casks including ex-bourbon barrels, New Zealand red wine casks and some miniatures.

This whisky is made from 100 per cent New Zealand-grown and malted barley smoked using native manuka wood, then distilled through Thomson Whisky's handbeaten copper pot still. Aromas of smoke sit over a hint of underlying sweetness, with a spicy/savoury character that develops as it opens up. On the palate, there is intense smoke with notes of spice and a lingering smoky finish."
