TASTING NOTES

This Austrian grape can be surprisingly hard to find in New Zealand, but there are some excellent local examples, including this cracking Nelson release.

Bright and expressive, it delivers zesty citrus, subtle spice and juicy orchard fruit flavours, carried by that classic mouthwatering freshness Grüner Veltliner is known for. It's a brilliantly versatile food wine, pairing effortlessly with seafood, chicken, pork and roasted vegetables.

At a clearance price of $11.99, it's the kind of bottle you'll want to grab a few of and keep on hand for whenever something fresh, simple and delicious is on the menu.

Winery notes (2023 Vintage)

"Ripe nectarine, elderflower, bay leaf and bright florals with a hint of spicy white pepper. Ripe stonefruits, lime sorbet, crushed dill and a tight riverstone minerality balance with a crisp, elegant long finish.

Fruit harvested from three distinct vineyard sites was gently destemmed and pressed with freerun and pressings fractions separated. A selection of Austrian aromatic yeast strains were fermented at cool temperatures to enhance varietal character. Maturation on light lees for 3 months to create texture and mouthfeel before careful blending of the 6 unique components."

5 Stars & 93/100 Sam Kim, Wine Orbit, December 2023 (2023 Vintage)

"It's finely scented on the nose, showing white flesh stone fruit, lemon zest, pear and jasmine nuances, leading to a focused

92/100 Cameron Douglas MS, December 2023 (2023 Vintage)

"Crisp, dry, peppery and fruity with flavours of pineapple and spice, apple and white fleshed orchard fruits. The key to this wine is the combination fresh citrus and herbaceous spices then core fruit flavours that speak to the variety. Plenty of acidity and freshness, crunch and flavours, a wine that melds with summer fare easily. best drinking form New Year's Eve and through 2029."
